

BECON

5/29/2020

Today's guests were Steve Arveschoug, the Executive Director of Big Sky Economic Development and Ashely Braaten, a potential new member.

Announcements

Next Friday will be the return to live meetings. We will be meeting in Cedar Hall and there is a map attached for anyone that does not know where to go. There will be no food until July, this means all beverages as well. So indeed this means our first meeting back is BYOB (Bring your own Beverage).

The raffle tickets will be ready soon for the fundraiser we are doing. As mentioned last week, each club member will be required to sell ten tickets. The pricing is one for $10 or three for $20. Tickets will be sold thru September. Tickets will be numbered for ease of tracking.

Mike recently spoke with the Metra and they are still looking towards the fair before any time of beer sales will be available for us. There will most likely be a couple of booths on the fair grounds for us to sell at.

District Convention is tomorrow starting at 9am. The link is on the BEC Facebook page, District Facebook page and Rene has emailed it out as well. If you do plan on attending, please contact Tony so that he can send you the packet including bios ect. Hope to see everyone there!

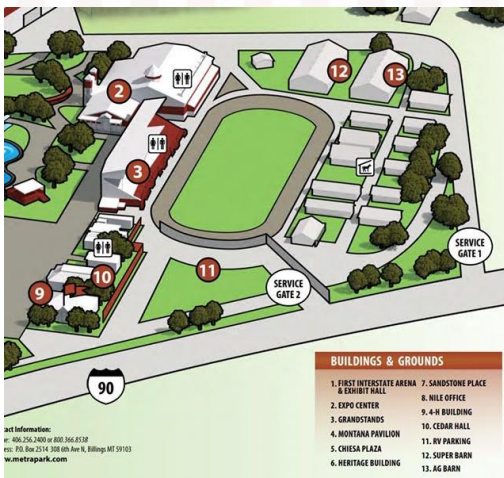

At this point, Steve took over. Rene did record his presentation, so it is included below so that you can get all the facts. This has been one handy tool for reporting what our guest speakers have to say.

Also, here is the link to the recorded meeting (at least most of it!):
